U. S. Backs Franco Inquiry

Spanish Question
Is Believed
Headed Toward
Harmonious Ending

By Max Harrelson
NEW YORK, April 24—
(AP)—Edward R. Stettinius,
Jr., U. S. delegate to the United Nations Security Council, was reliably reported
today to have indicated
he would support the Australian proposal for a thorough investigation of Franco Spain.

Sources close to Stettinius said
he might ask Australian Delegate
W. R. Hodgson to clarify the scope of the inquiry but that he was prepared to go along with the growing list of delegates who have
lined up behind the proposal.

This word came as the council
took a one-day recess after yesterday's stormy session in which Soviet Russia lost her battle to have the council drop the Iranian
case and announced she would boycott any further discussion of the case.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British
delegate, also was reported to have received instructions to back the Australian proposal. Mexico and Poland previously had indicated
they would support the measure,
and it was believed Russia and France were ready to go along.

Others Expected To Follow
The other delegates, while reluctant to commit themselves in advance, were expected to follow
the lead of the big powers, which
for once seemed to be in agreement.

It thus appeared that the Spanish question was finally headed toward a harmonious solution when
the council meets at 3 p. m. (EST)
tomorrow.

Some delegates predicted there
might be a lengthy discussion—
possibly delaying a vote for another day—but there was general
agreement that approval of the proposal was assured.

Such action would avert a showdown on Poland's move for a world diplomatic break with the Franco regime for at least four weeks—the time allotted for the
inquiry by a five-man committee.
Russia, France, Poland and Mexico had advocated a diplomatic break, but they failed to win the necessary support and it was believed they would not press for an immediate vote.

Soviets Fought To Last
Soviet Delegate Andrei A.
Gromyko fought to the last to push
through his resolution to strike
the Iranian case from the council's agenda, but in the end he recognized his defeat by associating himself with a milder resolution offered by French Delegate Henri Bonnet.

The French proposal provided
that the case be dropped from the agenda but it had an additional provision that the secretary-general report to the general assembly
on any new developments on the Iranian question.

Three Killed On Test Flight

BURBANK, Calif., April 24—(AP)—
A Western Air Lines transport,
on a test flight without passengers,
crashed into a house today, killing
its three crewmen.

Occupants of the house, Matthew Brychta, his wife Mildred and their three children, Ronnie, 5,
Janet, 3, and Carl, 18 months,
escaped injury. The residence, on busy Lankershim boulevard, was severely damaged by flames.

A Western Air Lines official said
the plane's pilot caught Lockheed
air terminal tower control with an emergency landing request, reporting he was operating on a single engine, then overshot the field on his approach and asked
permission to land from the opposite direction. Permission was granted, but nothing further was heard from the plane. Wind was negligible at the time, the tower
dispatcher said.

The crash occurred four miles
from Lockheed air terminal, Transcontinental terminal for major airlines serving the Los Angeles
metropolitan area.

Western air listed the plane's
occupants as:
Wayne M. Fildroff, 26, Los Angeles, the pilot.

Marvin Schwartzbach, 25, Rose, Calif., the co-pilot.

Leon A. Turgeon, 36, Hollywood,
the mechanic.

custody of "Snookie" in her divorce
from James Dugan. However,

Disciplinary Crackdown on all American Troops in Europe

FRANKFURT, Germany, April
24—(P)—Gen. Joseph T. McNar-ney today ordered a disciplinary crackdown on all American troops
in Europe because "discipline in certain localities and commands in this theater has deteriorated to the point of discrediting the fine
performance of our troops in general."

In orders issued to unit commanders, the theater commander
declared "all commanders and their subordinates must now de-
vote themselves to the reestab-
lishment of discipline."

Gen. McNarney's written order
said:
"Due to rapid demobilization
and frequent changes of station
of units and assignments of enlisted men and officers, firm ties
of unit pride have been weakened."
"Consequently discipline in certain localities and commands in
this theater has deteriorated to a

Explanation Of Bond Issue At Lions Club

High School Boy
And Girl Tells
Of Advantages

The $800,000 school bond issue
was explained at the noon day
meeting of the Sedalia Lions club
at the Bothwell hotel today by
two of Smith-Cotton's senior students, Miss Jean Hulse and Kenneth Hunt. The two speakers,
well versed on their subject, gave
exceptionally good talks.

Miss Hulse spoke on the grade
school and junior college as proposed. She explained the combined Broadway-Horace Mann
school, which would be a saving
in building and would afford better education facilities as well
as being maintained much cheaper.

She told of the proposed Whittier and Jefferson schools and
gave the comparisons of the present buildings and those proposed
under the bond issue. In her remarks on the junior college she told how many more students
would be able to advance in education than would if they did not have such an educational institution, as many would not be able to afford to go from high school to some college away from Sedalia. She explained the money that would be saved by parents and the money which would remain in Sedalia through a junior college.

Hunt next speaker
Kenneth Hunt spoke on the inadequate conditions of Smith-Cotton high school which was built for 800 students and now
has an enrollment of more than 1,000 and at one time had 1,300
students. He explained the proposed gym and compared the present conditions with those under the proposal. He explained the class room crowded conditions,
the dire need of another library,
cafeteria, study hall, storage and
class rooms.

They were introduced by Carl
Urban, program chairman.
Milt Overstreet, past president
of Lions, presided over the meeting.

Guests were David Routsong
with Dr. Kenneth Haldren; Lion
T. A. Reid of Marshall with Harold Seaburg, State Senator Ralph
Edwin of Concordia with Judge
J. E. Smith.

To Youth Meeting
The Lions voted to send both
a boy and girl to the Boys State
and Girls State this year. Miss Nancy Campbell, daughter of Dr.
and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, chosen
last year to attend Girls State and
who was unable to do so, will be given the honor this year.
The selection of the boy is to be made this week by a committee.

Joe Kabler is Fatally Hurt In Collision

Car He Was Driving
Sideswiped a Grain Truck

Joe Kabler, 39, a farmer residing on R. F. D. No. 1 Beaman, near the Scott school died at 2:36 o'clock
this morning from injuries received
when the 1935 Ford coupe he was driving sideswiped a truck
driven by Herman Hessefort, 237 South Prospect avenue, eight and a half miles north of Sedalia on Highway 65, Tuesday night. The accident occurred about 10:15
o'clock.

Kabler suffered internal injuries
slight lacerations on his head, and
hands, and bruises about his body.

He was brought to the Bothwell
hospital in the McLaughlin ambulance. He was treated at the hospital by Dr. Frank B. Long.

C. B. Miles, owner of the car,
who operates a saw mill about
twenty-five miles north and east
of Sedalia, was also in the car but received only slight lacerations on his hands.

The truck is owned by Norman Elwood, 1415 East Seventh street,
who was in it with Hessefort.

The truck was loaded with
shelled corn and the gross weight
was said to be approximately 19, 000 pounds. Hessefort also had a grain truck was ahead of them
and he was relieving Elwood
in the driving when the accident occurred.

According to Hessefort, a truck
with an Iowa license was ahead of him, and they were coming down
the Claycomb hill. He said he saw the car pass the truck ahead
just before he (Hessefort) reached a curve. The driver appeared to go straight instead of turning with the curve. The small coupe struck the left front fender of the truck,
tearing away the running board
and then crashing into the left
corner of the grain bed.

The impact was so terrific that it jerked the grain body and caused
it to shift. The weight was so heavy that it is believed to have sprung the frame of the truck.
The small coupe was practically demolished. The front end of the Ford was mashed in and the left side of the car torn away, scattering parts of the car along the highway for more than 200 feet.

Mr. Miles said that he didn't know exactly what had happened,
as he wasn't paying too much attention as Kabler was driving all-
right as far as he was concerned.
He said Kabler was a truck driver
and that he helped him with his
saw mill down below Postal.

He said he was going as far as Kabler's and from there would have driven his car on down to the mill.

Damage to the truck was estimated at between $500 and $600.
State Trooper Peter Stohr made
an investigation of the accident.
Mr. Kabler was born in Bea-

Took the Entire Jury to Help Juror Open Business Safe

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 24
—(P)—Twenty-five men and
a guard of deputy sheriffs accompanied Elmer Davis this morning to open the safe of the Morris Plan Co.

Davis, an alternate on the
jury panel for the murder
trial of Charles H. Tiedt, was the only member of the firm
who knew the combination of the safe. However, under court order the panel could not be separated. So deputy sheriffs herded the entire panel
to the firm, a block and a half from the courthouse.

Taken to Task For Spending Lobby Fund

Senator Says
Buying Public Can't
Match NM Sum

By J. W. Davis
WASHINGTON, April 24—(P)— Senator Mitchell (D-Wash.) took
the National Association of Manufacturers to task today for spending $395,850 in its anti-OPA
campaign. He called such spending "out of line."

Mitchell was one of a group of Democratic senators who tangled
with Robert R. Wason, president of the N. A. M., when Wason disclosed what the association's anti-OPA drive had cost.

"The average consumer who wants prices held down couldn't
hope to duplicate that amount,"
Mitchell said to a reporter.

Wason testified at hearings
yesterday on legislation to extend OPA a year beyond June 30. In the course of the hearing, Chairman Wagner (D-NY) mentioned
that he had received 1750 telegrams for continuance of OPA
without restrictive amendments
such as the house tacked on.

Wagner said there were 26 telegrams against continuance.

Assertion Challenged
"Propaganda machine," exploded Wason. Later the NAM president quoted Rep. Vursell (R-Ill.)
as having said the OPA has thousands of employees indulging in propaganda at an annual cost of $13,000,000.

This assertion was challenged
by Zenas L. Potter of OPA, who said the price control agency
spends nothing on propaganda,
and that the $13,000,000 figure included such things as the cost of printing ration books for every person in the country.

Additional business men witnesses were called to testify on the OPA extension today, including representatives of the American Mining Congress, zinc and lead
interests, the American Petroleum Institute and Mrs. James A. Reed,
president of the Donnelly Paper
company in Missouri.

Pleaded for Controls
Wason pleaded in his testimony
for an end to all price controls
on manufactured goods. He said:
"We urge you to give the manufacturers of America a chance to turn out the goods with which
to smother inflation."

Wason contended especially that
OPA was retarding production.
He said it had nothing to do with production except to hinder it.

This comment referred to new Federal Reserve Board figures
which Mitchell cited as showing that production in March was 169 per cent of the 1935-39 production index. Wason retorted
that the 1935-39 period was one of depression.

Returning To States

approximately 6,000 officers with

directive committee of the Democratic Fascist party," said the
body, from which "the light of
eternity is spreading," was taken
because the party could bear no
longer "the cannibal slurs made

Effort to Keep Il Duce's Body From Rome

Taken From Grave
Spited Across
The River Po

ROME, April 24—(P)—A mysterious telephone caller told the Milan newspaper Corriere Lombardo today that the body of Benito Mussolini, stolen from a grave in potter's field yesterday,
has been spirited south across the River Po.

The anonymous caller said:
"This night at 3 o'clock Musso-
lini's body has passed the Po river
at Caorso."

Caorso is near Piacenza. The caller said the body of the assassinated Fascist dictator was taken
across the river in a boat, but declined to say how many were aboard.

The newspaper said the man was believed to be the same as the one
who called it yesterday and declared "a body has been stolen
from Maggiore cemetery in Milan." The newspaper refused to believe the story until a commu-
que three hours later told of the stealing of the remains of Mussolini.

Minister of the Interior Giuseppe Romita ordered police to block all highways from Milan today in an effort to frustrate any attempt to bring Benito Mussolini's exhumed
body to Rome.

Palace Guarded
Police guarded the Palazzo Ven-
ezia, Mussolini's famed headquarters when he was the dictator of Italy.

Throughout the night police
stopped every automobile approaching the palace.

Romita declared that "one man
alone" knew the exact location of the unmarked grave in a Milan
potter's field from which the former Duce's remains were stolen yesterday. He declined, however, to identify the man while the investigation still is under way.

Milan newspapers, meanwhile,
reported that police had found
near the open grave a note which was signed by the "Democratic Fascist party" and which said:

"Duce, finally you are with us.
We repeatedly requested of the authorities that you be given a wonderful tomb, but this always was denied us. Now you will have a grave worthy of your person and
of all you accomplished, covered
with roses and flowers."

Pamphlets Distributed
The newspaper Il Momento said
that for some time pamphlets had been circulating in Milan asserting that "regardless of opinions on Mussolini, he belongs to history
and therefore has a right to burial."
Napoleon, too, led France to disaster, but nobody questions the
invalids—his tomb."

Milan police, reconstructing the theory of Mussolini's body, said the marauders had climbed two small
fences to gain entrance to the rear of the cemetery. After uncovering
the body they apparently dumped
it into a sack and carried it to an automobile, which was believed to have headed toward Gallarate, a small town 20 miles distant.

Trail Lost
The trail reported was lost there.
Fears that an attempt might be made to bring Mussolini's body to Rome were roused by the letter
reportedly found near the open grave.

"The time will come," the letter
said, "in which Benito Mussolini
in his coffin, kissed by our sun,
will parade through the streets of Italy, and all the roses of the world
and all the tears of our women
will not be enough to give extreme greetings of the country to this great son."

The letter, signed by "the central
directive committee of the Democratic Fascist party," said the
body, from which "the light of
eternity is spreading," was taken
because the party could bear no
longer "the cannibal slurs made
by human dregs organized in the Communist party."

What's Behind the Housing Shortage?

How High is Up? In Homes Inflation Runs Up to 100 Pct.

Some experts think it's now cheaper to build a new house than to buy an old one. But material shortages may keep your builder standing around like this waiting for supplies he needs to go on with the job. Shortages and substitutes boost cost, too.

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—According to where you live, it will cost you from 25 to 100 per cent more to buy a house now than it would have in 1940. The average increase is close to 70 per cent.

A survey made by the National Housing Agency in 84 larger and 250 smaller cities showed that in nine large and 47 small cities, the cost of $6000-or-less homes is more than double what it was in 1940, while in 66 large and 215 small cities the cost has risen more than 50 per cent.

That means that in most cities, a house that used to sell for $4000 would cost you now from $6000 to more than $8000, and would average $6750.

Almost anybody with whom one discusses real estate inflation can cite instances of houses that have sold recently for between two and three times their cost five or six years ago.

The point has been reached, as one expert points out, where it would actually be cheaper to build a new house—if you can—than to buy an old one.

Yet if you get a permit to build what used to be a $6000 house, and being a veteran you get priorities, and if those priorities prove good at the building supply house, you must plan to spend an average of close to $9000 before you can move in.

The house that you could build now for $6000, which is the top class that most veterans can afford to buy or rent, is almost as good as those development houses that were selling for $3950 in 1940.

The increased cost of building makes it extremely difficult to provide really habitable houses for either the veteran or the non-veteran in his average economic class. It is to hold this cost from going higher, at worst, that Housing Expediter Wilson H. Wyatt has persuaded Congress to give him funds for subsidizing materials manufacturers.

Labor, Profits Higher
Studies made by the St. Louis housing analyst, Roy Wenzlich and Co., and cited by the trade publication American Builder, show that a standard conventional 6-room frame house that cost $6026 to build in 1940 now costs $9404. The cost of labor is shown as having risen 86 per cent, from $1702 to $3177; the most of materials is described as being up 39 per cent, from $3129 to $4354.

Fortune Magazine, analyzing cost increases in a house that cost $8386 in 1939, reports that it would now cost $12,000 to build. The study portrays the cost of both material and labor as being up 32 per cent.

Some of these added costs arise from higher hourly wages in the building trades and in the factories that make building supplies. Profit and overhead per-about such transactions, beyond admitting that they add materially to what you must pay to buy or rent that house.

Die of Hunger In India

BOMBAY, April 24—(P)—Herbert Hoover arrived here by plane from New Delhi this afternoon and immediately conferred with the provincial food board on the food supply situation in this area.

Hoover said that it is hard to make the world realize what famine means "until the people see pictures of bodies in the streets." The former president wound up his 24-hour stay in the capital city of New Delhi with conferences with Mohandas Gandhi and Pandit

Jawaharlal Nehru. Nehru said later that he had urged the desirability of an inquiry into the greater utilization of Indian products as one means of meeting the increasingly grave food situation.

635,013,559,600-to-1 Shot Wins

The odds against it were about 635,013,559,600 to 1, say the experts, but a perfect bridge hand was dealt at St. John, N. B., recently. William E. McKenney, national authority and NEA Service bridge editor, declared that in his 20 years' association with the game, he had never before known a perfect hand verified, as was this one, some that played them. Pictured above are the hands and the fourmen, Mrs. Joseph A. Gray, Mrs. Carl A. Robbins, and Mrs. James T. Turnbull. Mrs. Freeman, the dealer, opened with a grand slam in clubs. Mrs. Gray bid a grand slam in hearts. Mrs. Robbins ended it all with a seven-spade bid, she and her partner collecting 1860 points. Mrs. Turnbull held 13 diamonds, but didn't get a chance to bid. The prize—a pair of nylons.

Western Reserve Student Co-op Is Cleveland's 'Little U.N.' Group

A cosmopolitan square dance at Western Reserve University's cooperative house finds Ruby Dewa, Honolulu, and Veon Smith, Salt Lake City, coming through bridge of arms formed by Mary Barker, Mokena, Ill., and Maurice Bovenizer, Bellaire, O.

By MARIANNE PACHNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, O.—(NEA)—The spirit of the United Nations can be seen in action every day in Cleveland. Twenty people of different races, religions and national backgrounds are living and working together amicably here in their own version of "One World."

When the members of the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Student Cooperative House of Western Reserve University roll back the rugs of their spacious living room for an evening of square dancing, Jimmy Sakamoto, Japanese-American from California calls the turns. Brooklyn-born Esther Goldsmith plays the piano, and doll-like Janet Kuwahara, a Nisei from Honolulu, leans onto her fiddle. "Quadrille," "al-emanade left" and "docey-doe" are performed in a congenial and light-hearted atmosphere by people who have hurled the barriers of hate and intolerance.

The Cooperative was started in 1938 by a group of graduate students in Western Reserve's School of Applied Social Science. Its constitution calls for an interracial group. Today, its membership includes 14 white Americans from all over the country, two negroes, four Japanese-Americans and one Chinese. Both Christian and Jewish faiths are represented.

Difficult Days
The going hasn't always been easy. When the group first moved into its present home intolerant neighbors, thinking they were a new kind of "cult," tried to call in the Vice Squad. Hoodlums slashed clothes that had been hung out to dry in the backyard, hurled insults through open windows.

To combat this, the Co-ops planned a house-warming, issued invitations to the neighborhood. Outsiders came to stare. They remained to enjoy themselves and to become friends.

The Co-ops themselves felt that they've gained a great deal from living together. They entertain many community leaders, hold forum discussions, go in for impromptu parties.

Admission to the house is by vote of the membership and is at a premium. Thirteen applicants were turned down for the last vacancy.

Everything is run on a strictly cooperative basis. The bulletin board lists the "must" duties of individual members, such as cleaning rooms, vacuuming carpets, waxing furniture, washing windows. Meals are prepared by a professional cook, but planning, marketing, waiting on table and cleaning up afterward fall to scheduled crews. There is no gold-bricking.

Dues are $35 a month. This includes two meals a day. Between-meal snacks are charged up extra. Careful accounts are kept and the building itself, which was purchased a year ago, is gradually being paid off.

Average Age 24

The 13 women members are all graduate students at the School of Social Science. The men's occupations are varied. There are two engineers, a newspaperman, a lexicographer, a physicist, two medical students and a law student. Average age is 24.

Peru, Panama, India, Hawaii, China, Germany and England, as well as every part of the United States have been represented in the house membership from time to time. Alumni are holding down responsible jobs throughout the world from the Virgin Islands to Palestine.

But the only time nationalism is likely to raise its head within the walls of Roosevelt house itself is on Sunday, the cook's day off. Different members are assigned to take over his job, and if a Nisei has dibs on the stove, Sunday dinner will be Sukiyaki. If a Chinese, it will probably be Eggs Foo Yong.

Butter Market Future Dim

By Cvid A. Martin
WASHINGTON, April 24—(P)—The government plans to re-enter the butter market about May 1 to buy 60,000,000 pounds to supply the armed services and military hospitals during the next 12 months.

To assure itself of this quantity, the government probably will require manufacturers to set aside a portion of their output during May and June.

Last summer it purchased 325,000,000 pounds under a set-aside order, but later turned 75,000,000 pounds back to civilian markets.

Government buying for the year ahead will be concentrated in the May-June period when butter production normally reaches its peak.

By obtaining a year's needs in this period, the government thus eliminates itself as a competitor with civilians during low production periods.

But despite the government's plan to secure military needs during the flush production season, the outlook for civilian supplies of butter next fall and winter are not bright.

War Trial Dramatic at Times

Stahmer came to him and said:

"Listen, Goering has the point of view that Gisevius can attack him as much as he pleases but if he attacks the dead Blomberg, then Goering will tell things about Schacht and several things against Schacht that will be dangerous."

Dix asserted that he subsequently told Gisevius of this conversation since the witness already had heard bits of it.

Gisevius began lashing at Goering from the time he started testifying. He said he had not intended to mention Von Blomberg's marriage—an act which caused Hitler to remove the field marshal as minister of war in 1938—but had planned to speak of other matters involving Von Blomberg.

"I know why Goering doesn't want me to speak about this because it is the worst deed he has ever done," the Gestapo officer said. "Goering here is using a cloak of chivalry to try to silence me."

The court ruled that Gisevius should proceed with his story.

All available members of the Wayne county sheriff's department were hurried to the scene early today and several carloads of state police later augmented the 50 or more deputies.

Following an appeal from Sheriff Andrew C. Baird, Governor Kelly ordered a general alarm which sent state police into action "to preserve law and order."

Taft Against British Loan

WASHINGTON, April 24—(P)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today the United States is buying "50 years of friction" with Great Britain by offering a $3,750,000,000 loan. He suggested instead a $1,250,000,000 gift.

Opposing passage of loan authorization legislation, Taft told his colleagues in a prepared address that every time the British pay the $141,000,000 annual interest on the loan "they will groan heavily and the press will recall what they consider harsh treatment to an ally in the war."

"It is likely that in many cases the interest will be forgiven," the Ohio senator said, "and then everyone in the United States who doesn't like the British will rise up and denounce them for failing to pay interest and imposing additional charges on the American people."

"I feel deeply that this loan is an instrument of ill will and not of good will."

Three Guilty In 'Badger Game'

CHICAGO, April 24—(AP)—Two military policemen and the wife of one were sentenced to jail terms Tuesday for working the "badger game"—a type of swindle against which the M. P.'s were assigned to protect their buddies.

Judge Jay A. Schiller of Felony Court imposed six-month sentences on Pvt. Charles H. Bullock, 26, and Pvt. Richard Bird, 26, both of Hannibal, Mo., and Bullock's wife, Gertrude, 24, of Athens, Ga. They pleaded guilty to petty larceny charges after John Riski, 31, a war veteran, told Judge Schiller this story:

About midnight March 29 Riski met Mrs. Bullock in a South State Street bar and after a few drinks she invited him to her hotel room. There he was set upon by Bullock, posing as enraged over the trust, and Bird.

The soldiers, both working out of Camp Skokie Valley near Chicago, hit him on the head with a bottle and cut a gash requiring 18 stitches. Bullock held a knife at his throat while Bird pummeled him some more. Finally they took $25 of his money and a $50 wrist-watch and he was saved from further beating by two army officers who heard the commotion, burst into the room and summoned Chicago police.

Detective Martin Tully told the court Mrs. Bullock informed him the whole episode was planned. She said she came from Georgia to join her husband and that because he was short of money he induced her to join the scheme.

Terming the offense "vicious," Judge Schiller rejected a plea for mercy presented by Attorney William V. Spaul of Hannibal who said both men were respected Hannibal farmers before entering the service. They have been on patrols in the Chicago downtown section for 15 months.

The front of the courtroom was filled with relatives of the two men who had come to Chicago from Hannibal.

Find Body Of Papana In Desert

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 24—(AP)—The body of Alex Papana of Beverly Hills, Calif., former Romanian aviator and Olympic bob-sled contestant, was found in rugged desert country 16 miles south of here Tuesday and Sheriff Lynn Jones said he had drunk poison from a vacuum bottle.

In a hospital here, his wife, the former Jean Haeker, whom he married in Las Vegas last March 30, was grief-stricken. Two notes addressed to her and found on Papana's body protested his love for her and referred to the failure of their romance.

Another note of the same sort was found in Papana's expensive coupe when it was discovered last Wednesday in the same locality where his body was located by sheriff's deputies making a final search. The officers expressed belief that he had been dead for six days.

"Just a month ago you used to say 'I love you, I adore you, I worship you,'" read one of the notes found on Papana's body. "Next so many times you told me, 'I will never love anybody but you.'"

"How you used to beg me to marry you. 'I did not know there was so much happiness on earth,' you told me a million times. My goodness! How could you do all this? I only hope that you had some type of insanity and was not responsible. Even now, when I am on my way, I still love you—love is lost. I lost the Jean you used to be.

"We could have been so very happy but somebody hurt you—too bad."

Papana was divorced in 1943 by the former Sylvia Dorte of Rochester, N. Y., after 18 months of marriage.

Venue Change To Wilbur D. Purl

VERSAILLES, Mo., April 24—(AP)—Wilbert Dick Purl, who returned from three years in the army to find a first degree murder charge still pending against him, won a change of venue to Moniteau county Monday in circuit judge Sam C. Blair's court.

Judge Blair granted the change of venue on the plea of Purl's attorney, Joseph Miniac of Kansas City, that a Morgan county jury would be "biased and prejudiced" against him.

lege of agriculture reported Tuesday a state livestock breeder lost eleven head of registered stock due to arsenic.

The school performed an autopsy, discovering the cause of death and the farmer, on investing, said an old can of Paris Green he had thrown away 15 years ago was responsible for the casualties.

"A 25 cent can of Paris Green cost me ten registered calves and one registered cow," he commented.

Brooklyn has A Pitching Staff, Too

Ed Head Pitches No Hitter Against Mort Cooper and Braves

By Jack Hand
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Ed Head's no-hitter dwarfs the rest of the baseball news today, emphasizing the latent strength of a Brooklyn staff that may give the St. Louis Cardinals many anxious moments.

The lean right-hander from Selma, La., couldn't have picked a more effective way of proving to the Brooklyn management that he had completely recovered from arm trouble that once threatened to end his big league career.

Making his first start since July, 1944, the ex-GI definitely established himself as a first line chucker on Leo Durocher's list.

The 26-year-old chucker, who started life as a left-hander but shifted over to the other side after breaking his left arm in an accident, left little to be desired. As he handed the Brooks a 5-0 victory over Boston's Mort Cooper.

It was a sixth straight win for the Dodgers but they needed it to remain in a first place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals who also reeled off a sixth successive victory at the expense of Cincinnati, 3-2. Reliever Ken Burkhardt, the second of three Red Bird chuckers, received the credit when three singles, an error and an outfield fly cost Nate "Hard Luck" Andrews another setback.

Freshman Billy Cox bobbled a ball at shortstop that helped Chicago trim Pittsburgh, 3-1, for Claude Passeau's first win of the campaign. Rookie Ed Ables matched Passeau's five-hit effort but walked 10 men.

Oscar Judd bounced back from an opening day shelling to toss Philadelphia to an 8-1 edge over the New York Giants with the help of Ron Northey's two-run homer off Harry Feldman.

The New York Yankees advanced into a first place tie with Boston by blanking Philadelphia 3-0. It was a second straight nod for Al Gettel, who traveled north with the Yanks' "B" squad,

So It's Coming to This!

over the Mackmen. Nick Etten's two-run homer doomed Lum Harris.

Washington pulled the Red Sox back into a deadlock with the Yanks by scoring six times in the 11th for an 8-2 verdict over Fireman Mike Ryba. Roger Wolff finally received credit for the Nats' triumph after the wild 11th in which Gerry Priddy homered with two on.

Bill Dietrich outpitched Al Benton as Chicago trimmed Detroit, 3-1, although a stomach ailment forced Dietrich to retire after seven frames. Joe Haynes, who relieved was just as good, protecting a five-hit effort.

A scheduled Cleveland at St. Louis contest was rained out.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, April 24.—(AP)—The Penn relays next Friday and Saturday have had the best advance sale in some 15 years and are going 2 1/2 times better at the gate than last year. . . . Tub-thumper Joe Labrum, predicting a turnout of 35 to 40,000 if the weather is good Saturday, figures it means only that people want some place to go and don't care much whether it's a track meet or a race track. . . . Leo Novak, Army coach, figures his Cadets won't look so hot in the relays because most of them have been taking flight training and have to stay out too late at night. Leo's son Jack is an instructor at Stewart Field and complains that he's sleepy all the time. "And he only has to tell them what to do," Novak explains. "They have to do the flying."

The Brooklyn Ohrbach team, a prewar eastern basketball team, may head up the eastern division of the proposed All-America cage league, which is to include several of the high-powered Western AAU clubs. . . . Has anyone noted that Notre Dame's 1946 football schedule was officially released March 17? . . . If the Irish has even half as good a season as everyone expects you'll get just one guess as to future release dates.

Comdr. Bill Reinhardt, athletic director and football coach at the merchant marine academy thought he had a foolproof setup for a color football movie that a sports goods concern planned to make at Kings Point. . . . His own squad was to make most of the scenes with such stars as Ken Strong, Sammy Baugh and Sid Luckman coming in for special performances. . . . So Bill went to Washington for a few days on business. When he returned he found the nice green field had been ploughed up, ruining it for color films.

McIntyre Wins Meets Eckers Next Tuesday

Esteppe Wins Over Mike Burnell; Szabo Disqualified

Don McIntyre, Ottaville, made it two straight falls over Ken Fenelon, Dubuque, Ia., Tuesday night to win the main event on the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion wrestling card. The second and final fall was won when McIntyre, using an arm twist and flip, pulled Fenelon's left shoulder out of place and the Iowa gave up.

McIntyre, becoming raging mad at the tactics which Fenelon resorted to in the second fall, got the arm hold and continually held tight flipping Fenelon around the ring until he twisted so hard it some place to go and don't care much whether it's a track meet or a race track. . . . Leo Novak, Army coach, figures his Cadets won't look so hot in the relays because most of them have been taking flight training and have to stay out too late at night. Leo's son Jack is an instructor at Stewart Field and complains that he's sleepy all the time. "And he only has to tell them what to do," Novak explains. "They have to do the flying."

Ray "The Great" Eckert, California, Mo., had sent word to Promoter Marshall Esteppe challenging the winner of the main event for a match next Tuesday. McIntyre after his match said "it will be a pleasure to meet Eckert, I'm better and he knows it."

McIntyre won the first fall in 13 minutes and 30 seconds using a series of body slams and body smother. The second fall was in 8 minutes and 50 seconds. Marshall Esteppe, Sturgeon, won his match with Mike Burnell, Oklahoma City, two falls after losing the first fall to the Oklahoma. Using a step-over toe hold Burnell won the fall in eight minutes and 20 seconds. Esteppe using a series of flying tackles off the ropes and body smother took the second fall in two minutes and 45 seconds. The third fall was won by Esteppe in three minutes and 40 seconds, when he reversed the step-over toe hold which Burnell had applied.

Joe Szabo, Detroit, was disqualified by Referee Charles Thomas when he displayed unnecessary roughness with Mel Peters of Omaha. Peters had won the crowd over and had their support when the break came.

Thomas making his first appearance as a referee was a crowd pleaser. His action in the ring was such that members of the Legion requested the promoters bring him back as the referee. Thomas lost no time in getting around the ring and was in on all holds, and displayed his ability in running the matches as an official.

The two supporting matches to the Ray Eckert-Don McIntyre match will be announced later this week.

Looking over the presidential seal as they prepared to take off from Washington, D. C., for the Paris Big Four conference in President Truman's personal plane, "The Sacred Cow," are, left to right, Secretary of State James Byrnes, Senator Arthur Vandenberg and Senator Tom Connally. ### Divorce Action Filed Alleging general indignities, Mrs. Myrtle Marie Davison filed suit for divorce from Stewart Davison Tuesday in the Pettis county circuit court.

The petition states that the couple was married on September 17, 1941, at Washington, D. C., and separated on December 29, 1945. The plaintiff, whose attorney is F. T. Armstrong, asks to have the care and custody of their three-year-old child, and for reasonable support for the child.

Ambulance Is Pressed To Duty

Returning from a second ambulance trip to Kansas City and vicinity Tuesday, Duane Ewing, of the Ewing funeral home, arrived just in time to be pressed into service at Highway 50 and Raytown road where four persons were injured in a head-on collision of two passenger cars, about 5 p. m.

He was asked by highway patrolmen, who had been called to the scene, to take a woman victim, who suffered a broken leg and head injuries, to Kansas City where she was admitted at Menorah hospital.

The other injured were removed to hospitals by ambulances from the physicians' exchange operating out of Kansas City.

After delivering the patient, Ewing retraced his course and continued to Sedalia. His earlier trips during the day were to take a child to a Kansas City hospital and an adult patient to the Veterans Facility at Wadsworth, Kas.

Several months ago Ewing was driving his ambulance to St. Louis when an automobile immediately ahead of his went off the highway and overturned. A woman was severely injured and Ewing rushed her to a hospital in St. Louis.

Girl In Charge Of Torture

BOSTON, April 24—(P)—An 18-year-old girl clerk at Westover air field told a district court judge Monday an air force lieutenant slashed her with a razor blade, burned his initials on her body with cigarettes and raped her during a night of torture in a Boston hotel room.

She gave her name as Miss Helen Stavrou, although the court records listed her as Stavron. The accused officer was Thomas Farrell of Somerville.

The girl told Judge Jennie L. Barron she met the officer in the room by appointment and that, instead of going out for the evening as they had planned, he locked the door.

She said she did not cry out because of his threats to kill her.

The girl said she finally wrapped a sheet around her and fled. Farrell, she added, collapsed after drinking two quarts of liquor.

Veteran Dies In Plane Crash

LYONS, Kas., April 24—(P)—Vernon Henry Janzen, 23, army veteran who had made his first solo flight only last week, was killed late Tuesday when his training plane crashed 15 miles south of here.

Witnesses said Janzen, who was alone in the plane, twice had circled the home of his father-in-law, O. H. Starbuck, shortly before the craft crashed at 7 o'clock.

Janzen was said to be the only private in General Dwight D. Eisenhower's party when the Supreme Allied commander made his triumphant return to the United States last summer.

His widow, the former Eldora Starbuck, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Janzen of Lorraine, Kas., and three brothers and one sister survive.

Stolen Car Found

O. W. Moon, 1017 East Ninth street, reported to the police at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday morning that his 1935 Ford coach had been stolen from his home sometime between 10 o'clock Monday night and 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

A report was also made to the state highway patrol. The car, police were advised Tuesday night, had been found near Bloomington, Ill., and was being towed into that city.

WASHINGTON, April 24—The inside story of why the house didn't vote on final enactment of the Patman housing bill before the Easter recess isn't a happy one—from the standpoint of home seeking war veterans. Here's what happened:

A joint conference of senate and house committees was called just before the Easter recess in a rush to get house approval of senate amendments. These amendments included, restoration of $600,000,000 in subsidies to stimulate production of scarce building materials.

Held in the usual secrecy, the conference lasted all day in hope that the bill could be passed before house members left on their Easter holiday. Soon after the conference got under way at 9 a. m., however, it became apparent that this was forlorn hope.

Four of the seven house conferees — Republicans Wolcott of Michigan, Crawford of New York, and Democrat Brown of Georgia (all VAV congressmen)—served notice they would make a bitter-end fight against the $600,000,000 in subsidies, as well as the senate's amendment calling for a government guaranteed market to producers of 200,000 pre-fabricated houses.

Since pre-fabricated houses are produced on a mass basis, the senate considered it necessary to guarantee builders a market of 200,000 houses.

Wolcott, Crawford, Gamble and Brown weren't really opposed to this guaranteed market amendment, but used it as a compromising weapon to scuttle subsidies. In other words, they offered to back down on a guaranteed market if the other conferees backed down on subsidies — described by President Truman as the "heart" of the bill.

This proposition was flatly rejected by the remaining three house conferees — Representative Wright Patman of Texas, author of the original bill, Brent Spence of Kentucky and William Barry of New York (all Democrats).

The seven senate conferees were also unanimously opposed, including Barkley of Kentucky, Murdock of Utah, Taylor of Idaho, Mitchell of Washington, Taft of Ohio, Buck of Delaware and Capehart of Indiana.

Nix on Subsidies

Patman and Barkley urged, begged and cajoled with the four house objectors, but got nowhere. Finally they offered a compromise — to cut the subsidy provision from $600,000,000 to $400,000,000.

"We haven't time to quarrel here all day," Patman of Texas pleaded. "It will be too late if we don't reach an agreement soon. The house will recess for Easter in just a few hours."

However, the adamant four refused to budge an inch. They knew that as long as they stuck together they could prevent the bill from being submitted to the house.

"We are against subsidies in any form," Wolcott and his cohorts repeated over and over again. "We are against a billion, $400,000,000 — or even one dollar."

At 3 p. m., after about six hours of bickering, it was decided that the senate conferees should depart and let the warring house delegates try to work out an agreement alone. The seven senators were to be notified of their progress. Another hour passed. When no word came from the house conferees, several senators investigated and learned that the meeting had broken up with Wolcott and Crawford of Michigan, Gamble of New York and Brown

Spring Flight

By WILLIAM MAIER

THE STORY: Gun-wise Debby Weeks of Cape Cod still acts and dresses like a tomboy at 19. Her sister Agnes, warns her she'll never find a husband unless she changes her ways. Ellie, Agnes' husband, drops a bombshell when he announces he has invested almost their entire savings in a $2000 fire insurance policy for the old house the three of them live in. Bull, the new bird-dog, disappears. Looking for him along the beach, Debby meets Joel Sumter, who says he's staying with Bart Wyman. The Wyman are "summer people." Joel tells Debby he was watching her that day at the station when Bull first arrived and she was the only one who could handle him.

* * *

WHEN, five days before, Ellie and Debby had driven away from the freight station with Bull, Bart Wyman had swung the big touring car around in the parking space and headed back toward the village. And Joel Sumter had turned to him, laughing, and said, "Now there's my idea of a girl. No frills. How'd you fixing me up with a date sometime?"

Bart had chuckled. "Any time you say. But you'll find she's more at home in dungarees than she is in a dress."

And what with three houses full of guests, and with all the confusion, and the comings and goings, and the tennis and sailing and swimming and trips to Orleans and trips to Provincetown, Bart forgot his promise. It was just coincidence that Joel ever did get to know her, he realized afterwards, one of those crazy "if it hadn't happened that" sequences you can always find by looking backward from the important events in your life. If, for instance, Mrs. Wyman hadn't suggested that he do a bit of exploring on the Cape.

She had spoken to Joel only occasionally, and he wasn't entirely sure she knew who he was. But then, one afternoon when Bart and Ann were away somewhere and Joel had been trying

of Georgia still refusing to compromise.

Finally the conference adjourned, the four VAV dissenters glowing with victory. Their colleagues are betting, however, that after hearing from their war-vet constituents during the Easter recess, they won't come back so happy.

Note — "VAV" is the designation which veterans' groups are attaching to congressmen who "Voted Against Veterans."

European Diet

Believe it or not, but Secretary of Agriculture Anderson's home economics bureau has declined to give out any more suggested diets equivalent to what the people of Europe are eating.

This doesn't represent the view of the bureau's boss, Secretary Anderson, because he is one of Washington's most vigorous food economists. However, bureaucrats will always be bureaucrats.

Complete House is Built—

In an 8-Hour Working Day

TOP: Starting to erect house's plywood walls.

CENTER: Walls virtually completed a short time later, workmen prepare to raise the roof.

BOTTOM: The house is almost finished within an eight-hour working day.

Photos above show how one carpenter, assisted by several lumber yard hands, recently put up a prefabricated house in Evansville, Ill., in a little over seven and a half hours. A truck delivered the 46,000 pounds of plywood, steel beams, plumbing and heating apparatus. Some of the parts weigh over 75 pounds. The two-story, four-and-a-half-room house, designed to cost about $4,000 assembled, will be produced by the Home-Ola Corporation at its Tacoma, Wash., mill in time for retail sale this summer.

to answer a letter from his father and had given it up and wandered out across the yard to the bluff, she had called to him from the veranda of the big house. He had gone and sat in a chair beside her.

"Bart and Ann have gone to Wellfleet and left you alone," she informed him calmly. "If you haven't anything better to do, you might sit here and talk with me."

* * *

THEY talked about Bart, and about the firm in Boston he was starting in with in September, and about whether the wool business was likely to be profitable in the next 30 years, and about just how valuable a liberal arts education was likely to be in the wool business, or in any business.

Joel was skeptical about it—except, of course, for the sciences. They seemed to make a little more sense than the rest.

Mrs. Wyman frowned at her knitting. "Do they?"

"Seems so to me," Joel said. He filled his pipe. "I majored in biology."

"Because it seemed to make a little more sense than the rest?"

"I guess that was it."

"Have you thought," she asked, "of going on with biology? Graduate work?"

"Yes. One of my professors thinks he can get me a fellowship if I want it."

"And you'd like to?"

He nodded again.

"Who's stopping you?"

"The old man."

"Oh."

"He's a good old duck," he said slowly, "and lonesome as the devil—has been ever since Mother died, and more so since my sister got married. And a few years ago he bought this little factory—just outside of Chicago, it is. Makes—oh, certain kinds of cutting tools they use on factory machinery."

"You see, it was a plan he had,

sort of a day dream he'd been carrying around with him for years: him teaching me all he's learned in years of fussing around factories, the two of us working and living together, and then, when he gets ready to retire, turning the business over to me, a sure living for the rest of my life and all that." He smiled uncomfortably. "He bought a house last spring, so we'd have a place to live together. He was pretty excited about that," he added. "You see, we never had a real home when I was young. Until he bought the factory, he was an engineering consultant—moving around, you know, from one factory to another."

HE stopped, and Mrs. Wyman was scowling at her knitting. "You see where that leaves him," he said, "all alone out there with a factory and a house he doesn't much want—"

She let her knitting fall in her lap and looked out at the bay, her lips pursed. Finally she said quietly, "I like you better than I thought I did, Joel. I wish I could help you." She paused. "I can't, of course. There's just one thing I've found that might help: nothing ever turns out the way you think it's going to and—nothing is ever final."

He stared at his feet. "I suppose not," he said thoughtfully. But then he looked up and said, "But I want it to be final."

He really liked about Exeter and Princeton; they've both been there so long, and you had a feeling they were going to stay there."

"Do you like Cape Cod, Joel?" she asked abruptly.

"Sure. What I've seen of it."

"You ought to see more of it. You're going to be here another week, aren't you?"

"If you can stand me."

"Don't let Bart and Ann plan all your time for you. You can swim and play tennis anywhere. There are a lot of things you'd be interested in, and it has a nice feeling of permanence like—like Exeter and Princeton. And Joel."

"Yes."

"I think you'll decide what you'd better do, all right."

Truman's Girl Friend

The leading lady of the poppy presentation ceremonies to President Truman fell hard for the chief executive.

Three-year old Betty Lou Hall of Eaton Rapids, Mich., one of five orphaned children left by a heroic infantryman killed after the Normandy invasion, was selected to put the poppy in Truman's lapel in behalf of war orphans of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Her job finished, the little girl was asked by photographers if she didn't want to kiss the president. She complied not with one kiss, but a shower of them. In fact, the young lady seemed inclined to continue this part of the proceedings indefinitely until reminded that her embraces were sufficient for picture purposes.

Diplomatic Chaff

The Russian trade mission to Argentina is not on a brief visit. The Russians brought their families and are prepared to negotiate a long-term trade deal, especially trying to buy the Argentine linseed oil crop. If they succeed, the American home building program for veterans will be very short of paint. . . . The United States and Great Britain are pressing for an early election in Rumania — which the Russians don't seem to want. . . . In the Mexican presidential election races Miguel Aleman, with labor and liberal support, is running ahead of ex-foreign minister Ezequiel Padilla, an able diplomat and friend of the USA.

Ambassador Castillo's Chickens

Some 3,000 Washingtonians had their first look around the Mexican embassy in many years during the sumptuous reception given April 23 by Ambassador Espinosa de los Monteros. At that time old timers could hardly believe their eyes.

During the ten years of Francisco Castillo Najera's stay as the Mexican envoy to the USA, social functions at the embassy were few and far between. Castillo, now his country's secretary of foreign relations, is a brilliant statesman but not much for night life. Born and brought up on a ranch in northern Mexico, he

The biennial convention of the Seventh district of the Knights and Ladies of Security was called to order this morning in the Royal Tribe of Joseph hall by B. M. Tonight the three councils of Sedalia will give a joint social for the members of the order and the delegates in the Royal Tribe of Joseph hall.

The mining of coal on the Monsees Limestone Valley Stock farm, near Smithton, has been suspended temporarily until a larger engine and better pumping facilities can be secured. The miners have gone eight feet into a deposit of coal and it is believed they are only about one-half the way through it.

The teachers of Pettis county, irrespective of party affiliation, have adopted resolutions endorsing the candidacy of Prof. G. V. Buchanan, superintendent of the Sedalia public schools, for the Republican nomination for state superintendent of schools.

Apache Tribe of Red Men last night appointed the following committees to arrange for the meeting of the great council here next month: Banquet — Homer W. Robbins, C. A. Grosshans and Gene Miller; decorations — Owen Gibson, Floyd Williams and Will Cue; reception — Howard Wood and James Card.

Complaint is made that the street sweeper is frequently put to work on Ohio street as early as 9 p. m. to the annoyance of pedestrians. Merchants say the sweeper should not be put in operation before 10 p. m. except on Saturday night and then at 11 p. m.

has always been partial to the simple, rugged comforts of the farm.

New Ambassador Espinosa de los Monteros comes of a different background. Socially prominent, he arrived in Washington with plans to hold a big reception as soon as his family was settled. But after one brief inspection of the big stone house on Sixteenth street, he changed his mind.

Now, five months later, all is transformed. The whole interior has been renovated and redecorated, converting it into one of the capital's diplomatic show places. He has done a beautiful job, and the place is a credit to Mexico.

But members of the ambassador's personal entourage still shudder slightly when they mention those first days of housecleaning.

It wasn't so much the litter of odds and ends that shocked them, or the worn rugs, the commodious but hopelessly shabby armchairs, the battered office furniture or the paint peeling off almost every wall.

What really floored the fastidious new envoy and his staff was the auxiliary pantry, next to the ballroom. There, they discovered, confirmed rancher Castillo had kept a large brood of hens.

Beer Earns Its Rightful Place

Looking through old copies of the Clarion, I came across a headline "BEER RELEGALIZED". That was April 7, 1933.

A lot has happened since Missourians went to the polls and voted overwhelmingly for the legal manufacture and sale of beer. They were tired of bootlegging, racketeering and murder that made headlines during the so-called prohibition days.

The 13th anniversary of the return of legal beer finds it at a new peak of acceptance. During the war beer was cited for its morale value. I recall reading in the Clarion where the Office of War Information said, "the sale of 3.2 beer in the post exchanges in training camps is a positive factor in Army sobriety."

The brewing industry in Missouri has done its part during these years too. It is cooperating closely with public authorities in maintaining wholesome conditions surrounding the sale of beer.

From where I sit, beer has achieved its proper place in the American way of life as a beverage of moderation and respectability.

Three Bodies Deal With Food Problem

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—Are you confused by all the names of people and organizations mixed up in the world food famine?

Here's an explanation. There are three main bodies dealing with the problem:

1. UNRRA. (The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.)
2. The combined food board, composed of the United States, Canada and Great Britain.
3. The famine emergency committee.

This is what they do:

1. UNRRA supplies food free to certain nations which need it but can't pay for it. They're the only nations which get UNRRA food. Fiorello LaGuardia, former mayor of New York, is UNRRA's director general.
2. The combined food board's job is to parcel out food for nations which need it but can't pay for it. No nation gets food free through the board.
3. President Truman set up the famine emergency committee. It doesn't provide any food. It is publicizing the famine threat abroad and it makes recommendations on how much food should be conserved.

Former President Herbert Hoover, now on a world trip examining famine conditions, is honorary chairman of the emergency committee.

Only 13 nations — because they are too poor to pay for the food they need — get food from UNRRA. They are:

Albania, Austria, the two Soviet Republics of White Russia and the Russian Ukraine, China, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Italy, Yugoslavia, Finland, Hungary and the Philippine Islands.

Some Can Pay

But who pays for the food those 13 nations get from UNRRA?

There are 48 member nations in UNRRA, including some which need food but can't pay for it and some which need food but can pay for it.

Those who can pay for it get no food from UNRRA — they have to get it through the combined food board — but nevertheless chip in their share of money to UNRRA to buy food for the nations which can't pay.

That's how UNRRA gets its money for food. It buys what food it handles.

Now take the combined food board.

Board Members

The agriculture secretaries of the three participating countries, the United States, Britain and Canada, are the members of the board.

Under this board are a number of committees which specialize in certain commodities, such as committees on wheat, or oils and fats, or meat.

Various other nations have representatives on these committees.

Nations which have enough of a commodity which need a commodity and want to buy it. For instance:

The United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina have enough wheat for their own people and enough left over for nations short of wheat.

So those four nations will be on the wheat committee, together with representatives of nations needing to buy wheat.

Because supplies and needs are constantly changing, the committee are in fairly steady session here in Washington.

UNRRA Buys

(The 13 countries which get UNRRA relief have no representatives on the committees. UNRRA represents them. UNRRA has to buy for them.)

The committees figure out how much of a commodity can be sold to nations needing it, and how much each nation gets.

Then the committees make their recommendations to the combined food board which can accept them, change them, or reject them.

The group voted to continue $20.00 to Teen Town.

Mrs. Lyle Brown announced that eighteen boys had joined the Cub Scouts. The P. T. A. unit voted to act as sponsors to the Cub Scout Pack.

The children of the two first grades, under the direction of their teachers, Miss Kay Herrick and Mrs. Van Jones, presented a short program, using the Easter theme. The following songs were sung, "Easter Time" and "Easter Parade."

Guest speaker for the afternoon was the Rev. J. E. Merrick, who discussed the school bond issue.

Miss Charlene Mitchell, principal, invited the patrons to inspect the school bus which was on display in front of the building, explaining that a bus of that type would be used for the children of Horace Mann district should the bond issue be passed.

In 2046 A.D.

every home may have a mechanical Hi-Hung-Wash to wash and iron clothes.

But in 1946, we still have to save used cooking fat to make enough soap to wash clothes the old fashioned way. Use and re-use food fats and then turn them in to your meat dealer for four cents a pound to make soap and other household essentials. Fats and oils are short the world over. By conserving fats you help to feed the starving millions.

Russia Lost Fight On Iran Case

Fails By 8 to 3 Vote To Get It Dropped On U. N. Council Agenda

By Francis W. Carpenter
NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—Russia by an 8-to-3 vote lost a bitter battle Tuesday to take the Iranian case off the United Nations Security Council agenda and Soviet delegate Andrei Trosnyko thereupon grimly served notice he would not discuss Iran again at a Council meeting.

Climaxing a lengthy session at which it was obvious to a packed chamber that the majority wanted a decision promptly, eight delegates kept their hands down when the chairman called for a vote on a French compromise proposal to turn the matter over to the U. N. secretary general for a report.

Russia, who associated itself with the French proposal in the final confused action, Poland and France were the only delegates voting for the compromise.

Russia's original demand, contained in a letter dated April 6, for elimination of the Iranian question from the agenda immediately, was not voted upon. The chairman, Egypt's Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, held that Gromyko's brief statement in which he associated himself with the French proposal made a second vote unnecessary.

Soviets Not Participate

Then, with members of his staff stuffing papers in their bags and observers wondering whether Gromyko would again walk-out as he did nearly a month ago, the Russian delegate made this statement:

"In view of the agreement reached between the Soviet government and the Iranian government on all questions and in view of the withdrawal of its appeal to the Security Council by the Iranian government, the Soviet delegation considers that the decision of the Security Council to retain the Iranian question on its agenda is contrary to the Charter of the United Nations.

"The Soviet delegation is therefore not able to participate in the discussion of the Iranian question in the Security Council."

While Gromyko did not leave the chamber before adjournment today, his declaration made it appear certain that whenever the Council discusses the Iranian case again he will not attend. However, it was considered likely he would be present when the Council meets next at 3 p. m. Thursday to resume debate on Poland's charges against Spain.

Decision Reaffirmed

The Council by its action today re-affirmed its decision of April 4 to shelve the Iranian case until May 6, when Russia has promised to have all Red army soldiers out of Iran.

The April 4 resolution left the way open for further discussion if the Council desires. Or, if the Council deems that the case has been reported satisfactorily concluded by that date, Iran need not be mentioned in further debate.

Gromyko in his final arguments maintained that the United States was acting "illogically" in opposing the Russian move to take the case off the agenda forthwith.

He also accused some members of the Council, not named in his remarks, of attempting to "sacrifice the Charter in order to give an opportunity for further discussion of this so-called Iranian question."

"Any attempt to make use of the Iranian question for this purpose is doomed to failure and is likely to have the most regrettable consequences," Gromyko said.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., the United States delegate, obviously impatient at the long debates on the Iranian case joined briefly to put the United States again on record against dropping the dispute at this time.

Australia, Great Britain, Mexico, the Netherlands, China, and Brazil quickly voiced support of the American stand. Seven affirmative votes of the 11 Council members are required to approve any proposal.
